 - (b) require any person to produce for the inspection of the Judge, or of any other person authorised by the Judge for this purpose, any books, papers, accounting records, or other documents, or things, that are relevant to the inquiry.

- (2) At any inquiry under section 18A,—
 - (a) the District Court Judge may examine on oath any person; and for that purpose the Judge or a Registrar of a Court may administer an oath; and
 - (b) the District Court Judge may receive as evidence any statement, document, information, matter, or thing, that in his opinion may assist him to deal effectively with the subject of the inquiry, whether or not it would ordinarily be admissible as evidence; and shall in criminal proceedings be admissible in evidence against him, except upon a charge of perjury against him in respect of his testimony upon that examination.

- (7) A District Court Judge may, for the purpose of assisting him in the exercise of his powers under section 18C, appoint any Registrar of a Court, chartered accountant, or other person or persons to inspect documents and things produced pursuant to a requirement under subsection (1)(b) and consider statements made during the inquiry, and to report to him thereon.

18C District Court Judge may make assessment

- (1) Where, after holding an inquiry under section 18A and considering any reports obtained pursuant to section 18B(7), a District Court Judge considers, on the balance of probabilities, that all the appropriate licences that ought to have been obtained for the motor vehicles specified in the chief executive's application during the period, and while they were owned by the person, so specified were not obtained, he may make an as-assessment of the amount of road user charges that in his opinion ought to have been, but were not, paid to the Crown in respect of those motor vehicles while they were owned by that person during that period.

 - (c) as soon as reasonably practical after the offence was drawn to the attention of the defendant, a further licence was purchased specifying not less than the maximum gross weight of the motor vehicle and for a distance of not less than the amount by which the reading of the distance recorder exceeded the maximum reading of the licence displayed in the vehicle at the time of the offence.
- (3B) It shall be a defence in proceedings for an offence of operating a motor vehicle on a road when the gross weight of that motor vehicle is more than the maximum gross weight specified in the licence carried or displayed on that motor vehicle, if the Court is satisfied that, having regard to the maximum gross weights specified in the licences carried or displayed on any other attached vehicles, and to the actual gross weights of those attached vehicles, sufficient payment has been made in total to cover the charges that apply for the actual loadings on the individual vehicles at the time of the offence.
- (3C) It shall be a defence in proceedings for an offence of operating a motor vehicle on a road when the distance licence carried or displayed on the motor vehicle specifies the wrong vehicle type number of that motor vehicle if the defendant proves that—

- (3D) For the purposes of subsection (3C), a lifting axle is an axle which is fitted with a device to alter the distribution of weight between the axles of a heavy motor vehicle.
- (4) It shall be a defence in proceedings for an offence of operating a motor vehicle on a road without a proper working distance recorder if the defendant proves that—
