*Purposes and principles of sentencing7 Purposes of sentencing or otherwise dealing with offenders

- (1) The purposes for which a court may sentence or otherwise deal with an offender are—
 - (a) to hold the offender accountable for harm done to the victim and the community by the offending; or
 - (b) to promote in the offender a sense of responsibility for, and an acknowledgment of, that harm; or
 - (c) to provide for the interests of the victim of the offence; or
 - (d) to provide reparation for harm done by the offending; or
 - (e) to denounce the conduct in which the offender was involved; or
 - (f) to deter the offender or other persons from committing the same or a similar offence; or
 - (g) to protect the community from the offender; or
 - (h) to assist in the offender's rehabilitation and reintegration; or
 - (i) a combination of 2 or more of the purposes in paragraphs (a) to (h).

- (2) To avoid doubt, nothing about the order in which the purposes appear in this section implies that any purpose referred to must be given greater weight than any other purpose referred to.

8 Principles of sentencing or otherwise dealing with offenders

In sentencing or otherwise dealing with an offender the court—

- (a) must take into account the gravity of the offending in the particular case, including the degree of culpability of the offender; and
- (b) must take into account the seriousness of the type of offence in comparison with other types of offences, as indicated by the maximum penalties prescribed for the offences; and
- (c) must impose the maximum penalty prescribed for the offence if the offending is within the most serious of cases for which that penalty is prescribed, unless circumstances relating to the offender make that inappropriate; and
- (d) must impose a penalty near to the maximum prescribed for the offence if the offending is near to the most serious of cases for which that penalty is prescribed, unless circumstances relating to the offender make that inappropriate; and
- (e) must take into account the general desirability of consistency with appropriate sentencing levels and other means of dealing with offenders in respect of similar offenders committing similar offences in similar circumstances; and
- (f) must take into account any information provided to the court concerning the effect of the offending on the victim; and
- (g) must impose the least restrictive outcome that is appropriate in the circumstances, in accordance with the hierarchy of sentences and orders set out in section 10A; and
- (h) must take into account any particular circumstances of the offender that mean that a sentence or other means of dealing with the offender that would otherwise be appropriate would, in the particular instance, be disproportionately severe; and
- (i) must take into account the offender's personal, family, whanau, community, and cultural background in imposing a sentence or other means of dealing with the offender with a partly or wholly rehabilitative purpose; and
- (j) must take into account any outcomes of restorative justice processes that have occurred, or that the court is satisfied are likely to occur, in relation to the particular case (including, without limitation, anything referred to in section 10).

Section 8(g): amended, on 1 October 2007, by section 6(2) of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2007 (2007 No 27).

9 Aggravating and mitigating factors

- (1) In sentencing or otherwise dealing with an offender the court must take into account the following aggravating factors to the extent that they are applicable in the case:
- (a) that the offence involved actual or threatened violence or the actual or threatened use of a weapon:
 - (b) that the offence involved unlawful entry into, or unlawful presence in, a dwelling place:
 - (c) that the offence was committed while the offender was on bail or still subject to a sentence:
 - (d) the extent of any loss, damage, or harm resulting from the offence:
 - (e) particular cruelty in the commission of the offence:
 - (f) that the offender was abusing a position of trust or authority in relation to the victim:
 - (fa) that the victim was a constable, or a prison officer, acting in the course of his or her duty:
 - (fb) that the victim was an emergency health or fire services provider acting in the course of his or her duty at the scene of an emergency:
 - (g) that the victim was particularly vulnerable because of his or her age or health or because of any other factor known to the offender:
 - (h) that the offender committed the offence partly or wholly because of hostility towards a group of persons who have an enduring common characteristic such as race, colour, nationality, religion, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, or disability; and
 - (i) the hostility is because of the common characteristic; and
 - (ii) the offender believed that the victim has that characteristic:
 - (ha) that the offence was committed as part of, or involves, a terrorist act (as defined in section 5(1) of the Terrorism Suppression Act 2002):
 - (hb) the nature and extent of any connection between the offending and the offender's—
 - (i) participation in an organised criminal group (within the meaning of section 98A of the Crimes Act 1961); or
 - (ii) involvement in any other form of organised criminal association:
 - (i) premeditation on the part of the offender and, if so, the level of premeditation involved:
 - (j) the number, seriousness, date, relevance, and nature of any previous convictions of the offender and of any convictions for which the offender is being sentenced or otherwise dealt with at the same time:

- (k) any failure by the offender personally (or failure by the offender's lawyer arising out of the offender's instructions to, or failure or refusal to co-operate with, his or her lawyer) to comply with a procedural requirement that, in the court's opinion, has done either or both of the following:
 - (i) caused a delay in the disposition of the proceedings:
 - (ii) had an adverse effect on a victim or witness.
- (2) In sentencing or otherwise dealing with an offender the court must take into account the following mitigating factors to the extent that they are applicable in the case:

 - (d) that there was a limited involvement in the offence on the offender's part:

 - (g) any evidence of the offender's previous good character:
 - (h) that the offender spent time on bail with an EM condition as defined in section 3 of the Bail Act 2000.
- (3) Despite subsection (2)(e), the court must not take into account by way of mitigation the fact that the offender was, at the time of committing the offence, affected by the voluntary consumption or use of alcohol or any drug or other substance (other than a drug or other substance used for bona fide medical purposes).
- (3A) In taking into account that the offender spent time on bail with an EM condition under subsection (2)(h), the court must consider—

 - (b) the relative restrictiveness of the EM condition, particularly the frequency and duration of the offender's authorised absences from the electronic monitoring address; and

- (c) the offender's compliance with the bail conditions during the period of bail with an EM condition; and
 - (d) any other relevant matter.
- (4) Nothing in subsection (1) or subsection (2)—

 - (b) implies that a factor referred to in those subsections must be given greater weight than any other factor that the court might take into account.
- (4A) In subsection (1)(fb), emergency health or fire services provider means a person who has a legal duty (under any enactment, employment contract, other binding agreement or arrangement, or other source) to, at the scene of an emergency, provide services that are either or both—

- (2) In deciding whether and to what extent any matter referred to in subsection (1) should be taken into account, the court must take into account—

 - (b) whether or not it has been accepted by the victim as expiating or mitigating the wrong.

General provisions about discharge without conviction, etc, and imposition of reparation, fines, community-based sentences, sentences of home detention, and imprisonment

Heading: amended, on 1 October 2007, by section 8 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2007 (2007 No 27).

11 Discharge or order to come up for sentence if called on

- (1) If a person who is charged with an offence is found guilty, or pleads guilty, before entering a conviction and imposing a sentence the court must consider whether the offender would be more appropriately dealt with by—
 - (a) discharging the offender without conviction under section 106; or
 - (b) convicting and discharging the offender under section 108; or
 - (c) convicting the offender and ordering the offender, under section 110, to come up for sentence if called on.
- (2) If any provision applicable to the particular offence in this or any other enactment provides a presumption in favour of imposing, on conviction, a sentence of imprisonment, a sentence of home detention, a community-based sentence, or a fine, then—
 - (a) despite subsection (1), a court is not obliged to consider whether the offender would be more appropriately dealt with in the manner described in any of paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of that subsection; but
 - (b) the court is not precluded from dealing with the offender in that manner if the court thinks that it is appropriate in the circumstances.

Section 11(2): amended, on 1 October 2007, by section 9 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2007 (2007 No 27).

12 Reparation

- (1) If a court is lawfully entitled under Part 2 to impose a sentence or order of reparation, it must impose it unless it is satisfied that the sentence or order would result in undue hardship for the offender or the dependants of the offender, or that any other special circumstances would make it inappropriate.
- (1A) When considering undue hardship or other special circumstances under subsection (1), a court must not take into account that the offender is required to pay a levy under section 105B.

- (2) A sentence of reparation may be imposed, in relation to any particular offence, on its own or in addition to any other sentence.
- (3) If a court does not impose a sentence or order of reparation in a case where it is lawfully entitled to do so, it must give reasons for not doing so.
- (4) In this section, order of reparation means an order under section 106(3)(b), 108(2)(b), or 110(3)(b).

13 Sentence of fine

If a court is lawfully entitled under this or any other enactment to impose a fine in addition to, or instead of, any other sentence, the court must regard a fine as the appropriate sentence for the particular offence unless—

- (a) the court is satisfied that the purpose or purposes for which sentence is being imposed cannot be achieved by imposing a fine; or
- (b) the court is satisfied that the application of any of the principles in section 8 to the particular case make a fine inappropriate; or
- (c) any provision applicable to the particular offence in this or any other enactment provides a presumption in favour of imposing any other sentence or requires the court to impose any other sentence; or
- (d) the court is satisfied that a fine, on its own or in addition to a sentence of reparation, would otherwise be clearly inadequate in the circumstances.

14 Reparation, fines, and financial capacity of offender

- (1) Even if it would be appropriate in accordance with section 13 to impose a fine, a court may nevertheless decide not to impose a fine if it is satisfied that the offender does not or will not have the means to pay it.
- (2) If a court considers that it would otherwise be appropriate to impose a sentence of reparation and a sentence of a fine, but it appears to the court that the offender has or will have the means to pay a fine or make reparation, but not both, the court must sentence the offender to make reparation.

15 Community-based sentence

- (1) If a court is lawfully entitled under this or any other enactment to impose a community-based sentence or a fine, or both, it may impose a community-based sentence only if—

- (a) the court, in accordance with section 13, does not regard a fine as the appropriate sentence; or
 - (b) the court is not going to impose a fine because of either of the circumstances referred to in section 14.
- (2) This section is subject to any provision in this or any other enactment that—
- (a) provides a presumption in favour of or against imposing a particular sentence in relation to a particular offence; or
 - (b) requires a court to impose a particular sentence in relation to a particular offence.

15A Sentence of home detention

- (1) If a court is lawfully entitled under this or any other enactment to impose a sentence of home detention, it may impose a sentence of home detention only if—
- (a) the court is satisfied that the purpose or purposes for which sentence is being imposed cannot be achieved by any less restrictive sentence or combination of sentences; and
 - (b) the court would otherwise sentence the offender to a short-term sentence of imprisonment.
- (2) This section is subject to any provision in this or any other enactment that—
- (a) provides a presumption in favour of or against imposing a sentence of home detention in relation to a particular offence; or
 - (b) requires a court to impose a sentence of imprisonment in relation to a particular offence.

16 Sentence of imprisonment

- (1) When considering the imposition of a sentence of imprisonment for any particular offence, the court must have regard to the desirability of keeping offenders in the community as far as that is practicable and consonant with the safety of the community.
- (2) The court must not impose a sentence of imprisonment unless it is satisfied that,—
 - (a) a sentence is being imposed for all or any of the purposes in section 7(1)(a) to (c), (e), (f), or (g); and
 - (b) those purposes cannot be achieved by a sentence other than imprisonment; and
 - (c) no other sentence would be consistent with the application of the principles in section 8 to the particular case.
- (3) This section is subject to any provision in this or any other enactment that—
 - (a) provides a presumption in favour of or against imposing a sentence of imprisonment in relation to a particular offence; or
 - (b) requires a court to impose a sentence of imprisonment in relation to a particular offence.

17 Imprisonment may be imposed if offender unlikely to comply with other sentences

 - (a) the purpose or purposes for which sentence is imposed; or
 - (b) the application of the principles in section 8 to the particular case.
- (2) A court may only combine a sentence of community work with a sentence of supervision or intensive supervision if satisfied that—

20A Subsequent community-based sentence or sentence of home detention

- (1) This section applies to an offender who, while serving a community-based sentence or sentence of home detention (the first sentence), is sentenced to another community-based sentence or sentence of home detention (the second sentence) in respect of another offence.
- (2) The court must, when imposing the second sentence,—
 - (a) impose a sentence that would be permitted in combination with the first sentence under section 19; or
 - (b) defer the commencement of the second sentence until the first sentence has been served; or
 - (c) cancel the first sentence; or
 - (d) cancel the first sentence and substitute any other sentence that could have been imposed on the offender at the time when the offender was convicted of the offence for which the sentence was imposed so that the sentences are a permitted combination of sentences under section 19.
- (3) When cancelling the first sentence under subsection (2)(c) or (d), the court must, when imposing the second sentence or substituting the first sentence with another sentence, as the case may be, take into account the portion of the first sentence that remains unserved.
- (4) A court—
 - (a) must not cancel a first sentence under subsection (2)(c) or (d) if that sentence has been imposed by a higher court; and
 - (b) if it considers the first sentence should be cancelled, must refer the matter to the court that imposed the first sentence.
- (5) For the purposes of this section, an offender is to be treated as serving a sentence of home detention until the offender is no longer subject to any post-detention conditions imposed under section 80N (if any).
- (6) Sections 54, 54K, 68, 69I, and 80F (which relate to the variation or cancellation of community-based sentences and a sentence of home detention) do not apply to a cancellation under this section.
- (7) If the second sentence is a sentence of home detention or community detention and the court defers, under subsection (2)(b), the commencement of that sentence for more than 2 months, a probation officer must—
 - (a) review the suitability of the home detention residence or curfew address; and
 - (b) ensure every relevant occupant consents, in accordance with section 26A(3), to the offender resuming the sentence at the home detention residence or curfew address; and
 - (c) if necessary, apply to the court for a variation or cancellation of the sentence under section 69I or 80F or obtain from the chief executive of the Department of Corrections a variation of the curfew address or home detention residence under section 69JA or 80FA.

- (8) In this section, relevant occupant has the meaning given to it by section 26A(4)(a).

Proof of facts

24 Proof of facts

- (1) In determining a sentence or other disposition of the case, a court—
 - (a) may accept as proved any fact that was disclosed by evidence at the trial and any facts agreed on by the prosecutor and the offender; and
 - (b) must accept as proved all facts, express or implied, that are essential to a plea of guilty or a finding of guilt.
- (2) If a fact that is relevant to the determination of a sentence or other disposition of the case is asserted by one party and disputed by the other,—
 - (a) the court must indicate to the parties the weight that it would be likely to attach to the disputed fact if it were found to exist, and its significance to the sentence or other disposition of the case:

- (b) if a party wishes the court to rely on that fact, the parties may adduce evidence as to its existence unless the court is satisfied that sufficient evidence was adduced at the trial;
 - (c) the prosecutor must prove beyond a reasonable doubt the existence of any disputed aggravating fact, and must negate beyond a reasonable doubt any disputed mitigating fact raised by the defence (other than a mitigating fact referred to in paragraph (d)) that is not wholly implausible or manifestly false;
 - (d) the offender must prove on the balance of probabilities the existence of any disputed mitigating fact that is not related to the nature of the offence or to the offender's part in the offence;
 - (e) either party may cross-examine any witness called by the other party.
- (3) For the purposes of this section,—
- aggravating fact means any fact that—
- (a) the prosecutor asserts as a fact that justifies a greater penalty or other outcome than might otherwise be appropriate for the offence; and
 - (b) the court accepts is a fact that may, if established, have that effect on the sentence or other disposition of the case

mitigating fact means any fact that—

- (a) the offender asserts as a fact that justifies a lesser penalty or other outcome than might otherwise be appropriate for the offence; and
- (b) the court accepts is a fact that may, if established, have that effect on the sentence or other disposition of the case.

 - (d) no restorative justice process has previously occurred in relation to the offending; and

 - (b) the need to hold the offender accountable to the community by making compensation to it.
- (4) A probation officer must not give a direction under this section unless—

 - (a) there has been a change of circumstances since the sentence was imposed that would justify the variation or cancellation of the sentence; or

- (2) A probation officer may apply in accordance with section 72 for an order under subsection (3) of this section—
 - (a) if an offender who is subject to a sentence of community work is convicted of an offence punishable by imprisonment; or

 - (b) it would be unreasonable to require the offender to do the work during that period.
- (2) On an application under subsection (1), the court may, if it is satisfied that the grounds in subsection (1) have been established, extend the period within which the work must be done by the amount that the court thinks fit.

- (5) An offender given a notice under section 80ZP(1)(c) or (2) that requires the offender to undergo testing is required to report to the testing facility whose name and location are specified in the notice, at the time or times specified, to undergo testing.

Subpart 3—Imprisonment

81 Length of sentence of imprisonment

If under any enactment an offender is liable to imprisonment for life or for any specified term, the court may, in accordance with this Act, impose imprisonment for the maximum term provided for the particular offence or any lesser term, unless a minimum term of imprisonment is expressly provided for.

Compare: 1985 No 120 s 72

81B Procedure if offender convicted in District Court and court believes offender could be sentenced to life imprisonment

- (1) This section applies if a person is convicted by the District Court of an offence with a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, and the court has reason to believe that a sentence of life imprisonment may be appropriate.
- (2) The court must transfer the offender to the High Court for sentence and make an entry in the permanent court record to the effect that the court has declined jurisdiction on the ground that it has reason to believe that the offender should be considered for a sentence of life imprisonment.

Section 81B: inserted, on 1 July 2013, by section 5 of the Sentencing Amendment Act (No 2) 2011 (2011 No 93).

Section 81B(1): amended, on 1 March 2017, by section 261 of the District Court Act 2016 (2016 No 49).

Section 81B(2): amended, on 1 July 2013, by section 4 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2013 (2013 No 32).

82 Pre-sentence detention must not be taken into account in determining length of sentence

In determining the length of any sentence of imprisonment to be imposed, the court must not take into account any part of the period during which the offender was on pre-sentence detention as defined in section 91 of the Parole Act 2002.

Compare: 1985 No 120 s 81(2)

83 Cumulative and concurrent sentences of imprisonment

- (1) A determinate sentence of imprisonment may be imposed cumulatively on any other determinate sentence of imprisonment that the court directs, whether then imposed or to which the offender is already subject, including any sentence in respect of which a direction of that kind is or has been given.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), a court may not impose a sentence of imprisonment cumulatively on another sentence of imprisonment if, at the time of sentencing, the offender is subject to a sentence of imprisonment but, having commenced serving the sentence, is no longer detained under it.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), a person who is detained under an interim recall order under the Parole Act 2002 is not detained under the sentence to which the interim recall order applies.
- (4) An indeterminate sentence of imprisonment must not be imposed cumulatively on any other sentence.
- (5) Any sentence of imprisonment may be imposed concurrently with any other sentence of imprisonment.
- (6) For the purpose of this section, a term of imprisonment imposed on an offender (whether by committal, sentence, or order) in respect of the non-payment of a sum of money, contempt of court, or disobedience of a court order is deemed to be a determinate sentence of imprisonment.

Compare: 1985 No 120 s 73

Section 83(2): replaced, on 7 July 2004, by section 6 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2004 (2004 No 68).

84 Guidance on use of cumulative and concurrent sentences of imprisonment

- (1) Cumulative sentences of imprisonment are generally appropriate if the offences for which an offender is being sentenced are different in kind, whether or not they are a connected series of offences.
- (2) Concurrent sentences of imprisonment are generally appropriate if the offences for which an offender is being sentenced are of a similar kind and are a connected series of offences.
- (3) In determining for the purpose of this section whether 2 or more offences committed by 1 offender are a connected series of offences, the court may consider—
 - (a) the time at which they occurred; or
 - (b) the overall nature of the offending; or
 - (c) any other relationship between the offences that the court considers relevant.

85 Court to consider totality of offending

- (1) Subject to this section, if a court is considering imposing sentences of imprisonment for 2 or more offences, the individual sentences must reflect the seriousness of each offence.
- (2) If cumulative sentences of imprisonment are imposed, whether individually or in combination with concurrent sentences, they must not result in a total period of imprisonment wholly out of proportion to the gravity of the overall offending.
- (3) If, because of the need to ensure that the total term of cumulative sentences is not disproportionately long, the imposition of cumulative sentences would result in a series of short sentences that individually fail to reflect the seriousness of each offence, then longer concurrent sentences, or a combination of concurrent and cumulative sentences, must be preferred.
- (4) If only concurrent sentences are to be imposed,—
 - (a) the most serious offence must, subject to any maximum penalty provided for that offence, receive the penalty that is appropriate for the totality of the offending; and
 - (b) each of the lesser offences must receive the penalty appropriate to that offence.

Imposition of minimum period of imprisonment in relation to determinate sentence of imprisonment

86 Imposition of minimum period of imprisonment in relation to determinate sentence of imprisonment

- (1) If a court sentences an offender to a determinate sentence of imprisonment of more than 2 years for a particular offence, it may, at the same time as it sentences the offender, order that the offender serve a minimum period of imprisonment in relation to that particular sentence.
- (2) The court may impose a minimum period of imprisonment that is longer than the period otherwise applicable under section 84(1) of the Parole Act 2002 if it is satisfied that that period is insufficient for all or any of the following purposes:
 - (a) holding the offender accountable for the harm done to the victim and the community by the offending;
 - (b) denouncing the conduct in which the offender was involved;
 - (c) deterring the offender or other persons from committing the same or a similar offence;
 - (d) protecting the community from the offender.
- (3) [Repealed]
- (4) A minimum period of imprisonment imposed under this section must not exceed the lesser of—
 - (a) two-thirds of the full term of the sentence; or
 - (b) 10 years.
- (5) For the purposes of Part 6 of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011, an order under this section is a sentence.

Section 86(2): replaced, on 7 July 2004, by section 7 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2004 (2004 No 68).

Section 86(3): repealed, on 7 July 2004, by section 7 of the Sentencing Amendment Act 2004 (2004 No 68).

Section 86(5): amended, on 1 July 2013, by section 7 of the Sentencing Amendment Act (No 2) 2011 (2011 No 93).

- (b) was committed by an offender at a time when the offender—
 - (i) did not have a record of first warning given under section 86B; and
 - (ii) was 18 years of age or over

stage-2 offence means an offence that—

- (a) is a serious violent offence; and
- (b) was committed by an offender at a time when the offender had a record of first warning (in relation to 1 or more offences) but did not have a record of final warning

stage-3 offence means an offence that—

- (a) is a serious violent offence; and
- (b) was committed by an offender at a time when the offender had a record of final warning (in relation to 1 or more offences).

Section 86A: inserted, on 1 June 2010, by section 6(1) of the Sentencing and Parole Reform Act 2010 (2010 No 33).

86B Stage-1 offence: offender given first warning

- (1) When a court, on any occasion, convicts an offender of 1 or more stage-1 offences, the court must at the same time—

- (a) warn the offender of the consequences if the offender is convicted of any serious violent offence committed after that warning (whether or not that further serious violent offence is different in kind from any stage-1 offence for which the offender is being convicted); and
 - (b) record, in relation to each stage-1 offence, that the offender has been warned in accordance with paragraph (a).
- (2) It is not necessary for a Judge to use a particular form of words in giving the warning.
- (3) On the entry of a record under subsection (1)(b), the offender has, in relation to each stage-1 offence (for which a record is entered), a record of first warning.
- (4) The court must give the offender a written notice that sets out the consequences if the offender is convicted of any serious violent offence committed after the warning given under subsection (1)(a).

Section 86B: inserted, on 1 June 2010, by section 6(1) of the Sentencing and Parole Reform Act 2010 (2010 No 33).

86C Stage-2 offence other than murder: offender given final warning and must serve full term of imprisonment

- (1) When, on any occasion, a court convicts an offender of 1 or more stage-2 offences other than murder, the court must at the same time—
 - (a) warn the offender of the consequences if the offender is convicted of any serious violent offence committed after that warning (whether or not that further serious violent offence is different in kind from any stage-2 offence for which the offender is being convicted); and
 - (b) record, in relation to each stage-2 offence, that the offender has been warned in accordance with paragraph (a).
- (2) It is not necessary for a Judge to use a particular form of words in giving the warning.
- (3) On the entry of a record under subsection (1)(b), the offender has, in relation to each stage-2 offence for which a record is entered, a record of a final warning.
- (4) If the sentence imposed on the offender for any stage-2 offences is a determinate sentence of imprisonment, the court must order that the offender serve the full term of the sentence and, accordingly, that the offender,—
 - (a) in the case of a long-term sentence (within the meaning of the Parole Act 2002), serve the sentence without parole; and
 - (b) in the case of a short-term sentence (within the meaning of the Parole Act 2002), not be released before the expiry of the sentence.
- (5) If the sentence imposed on the offender for 1 or more stage-2 offences is a short-term sentence (within the meaning of the Parole Act 2002) and any conditions are imposed on the offender under section 93, then, despite anything in that section, those conditions take effect on the sentence expiry date (within the meaning of the Parole Act 2002).

- (6) If, but for the application of this section, the court would have ordered, under section 86, that the offender serve a minimum period of imprisonment, the court must state, with reasons, the period that it would have imposed.
- (7) The court must give the offender a written notice that sets out the consequences if the offender is convicted of any serious violent offence committed after the warning given under subsection (1)(a).

Section 86C: inserted, on 1 June 2010, by section 6(1) of the Sentencing and Parole Reform Act 2010 (2010 No 33).

86D Stage-3 offences other than murder: offender sentenced to maximum term of imprisonment

- (1) Despite any other enactment,—
 - (a) a proceeding against a defendant charged with a stage-3 offence must be transferred to the High Court when the proceeding is adjourned for trial or trial callover under section 57 of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011 or, as the case may be, in accordance with section 36 of that Act, and the proceeding from that point, including the trial, must be in the High Court; and
 - (b) no court other than the High Court, or the Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court on an appeal, may sentence an offender for a stage-3 offence.
- (2) Despite any other enactment, if, on any occasion, an offender is convicted of 1 or more stage-3 offences other than murder, the High Court must sentence the offender to the maximum term of imprisonment prescribed for each offence.
- (3) When the court sentences the offender under subsection (2), the court must order that the offender serve the sentence without parole unless the court is satisfied that, given the circumstances of the offence and the offender, it would be manifestly unjust to make the order.
- (4) Despite subsection (3), if the court sentences the offender for manslaughter, the court must order that the offender serve a minimum period of imprisonment of not less than 20 years unless the court considers that, given the circumstances of the offence and the offender, a minimum period of that duration would be manifestly unjust, in which case the court must order that the offender serve a minimum period of imprisonment of not less than 10 years.
- (5) If the court does not make an order under subsection (3) or, where subsection (4) applies, does not order a minimum period of not less than 20 years under subsection (4), the court must give written reasons for not doing so.
- (6) If the court imposes a sentence under subsection (2), any other sentence of imprisonment imposed on the same occasion (whether for a stage-3 offence or for any other kind of offence) must be imposed concurrently.

- (7) Despite subsection (2), this section does not preclude the court from imposing, under section 87, a sentence of preventive detention on the offender, and if the court imposes such a sentence on the offender,—
- (a) subsections (2) to (5) do not apply; and
 - (b) the minimum period of imprisonment that the court imposes on the offender under section 89(1) must not be less than the term of imprisonment that the court would have imposed under subsection (2), unless the court is satisfied that, given the circumstances of the offence and the offender, the imposition of that minimum period would be manifestly unjust.
- (8) If, in reliance on subsection (7)(b), the court imposes a minimum period of imprisonment that is less than the term of imprisonment that the court would have imposed under subsection (2), the court must give written reasons for doing so.

Section 86D: inserted, on 1 June 2010, by section 6(1) of the Sentencing and Parole Reform Act 2010 (2010 No 33).

Section 86D(1)(a): replaced, on 1 July 2013, by section 7 of the Sentencing Amendment Act (No 2) 2011 (2011 No 93).

86E When murder is a stage-2 or stage-3 offence

- (1) This section applies if—
- (a) an offender is convicted of murder; and
 - (b) that murder is a stage-2 offence or a stage-3 offence.
- (2) If this section applies, the court must—
- (a) sentence the offender to imprisonment for life for that murder; and
 - (b) order that the offender serve that sentence of imprisonment for life without parole unless the court is satisfied that, given the circumstances of the offence and the offender, it would be manifestly unjust to do so.
- (3) If the court does not make an order under subsection (2)(b), the court must give written reasons for not doing so.
- (4) If the court does not make an order under subsection (2)(b), the court must,—
- (a) if that murder is a stage-3 offence, impose a minimum period of imprisonment of not less than 20 years unless the court is satisfied that, given the circumstances of the offence and the offender, it would be manifestly unjust to do so; and
 - (b) if that murder is a stage-2 offence, or if the court is satisfied that a minimum period of imprisonment of not less than 20 years under paragraph (a) would be manifestly unjust, order that the offender serve a minimum period of imprisonment in accordance with section 103.
- (5) If, in the case of a stage-3 offence, the court imposes under subsection (4)(a) a minimum period of imprisonment of less than 20 years, the court must give written reasons for doing so.

86F Continuing effect of warnings

- (1) An offender continues to have a record of first warning or a record of final warning regardless of whether the offender has served or otherwise completed the sentence imposed on the offender for the offence (including, without limitation, any sentence imposed under section 86D or 86E) to which the record relates.
- (2) However, an offender ceases to have a record of first warning or a record of final warning if, on an appeal, an appellate court—
 - (a) quashes all the convictions to which the relevant record relates; and
 - (b) does not replace 1 or more of those quashed convictions with a conviction for another serious violent offence.
- (3) If the appellate court quashes a conviction to which a record of first warning or a record of final warning relates, the appellate court must order that the record of the warning be cancelled in respect of that conviction.
- (4) If the appellate court replaces a conviction (the quashed conviction) to which a record of first warning or a record of final warning relates with a conviction for another serious violent offence (the substituted conviction), then any record of first warning or final warning that previously related to the quashed conviction is deemed—
 - (a) to relate to the substituted conviction; and
 - (b) to have taken effect on the date on which the record that related to the quashed conviction took effect.
- (5) If, in accordance with subsection (2), an offender has ceased to have a record of first warning but continues to have a record of final warning, then—

- (a) the appellate court must order that a record of first warning replace that record of final warning; and
 - (b) that replacement record of first warning is deemed to have taken effect on the date on which the record of final warning took effect.
- (6) Subsection (3) is subject to subsection (4).

Section 86F: inserted, on 1 June 2010, by section 6(1) of the Sentencing and Parole Reform Act 2010 (2010 No 33).

86G Consequences of cancellation of record on later sentences

- (1) This section applies where,—
- (a) in accordance with section 86F(2), an offender ceases to have a record of first warning or a record of final warning or both (the previous record); and
 - (b) the offender continues to be subject to a sentence (a later sentence) that was imposed on the offender under any of sections 86C, 86D, or 86E for serious violent offences committed when the offender had the previous record.
- (2) The appellate court must take the actions described in this section that are applicable to the case or remit the matter to the court that sentenced the offender with a direction to take those actions.
- (3) The appropriate court must take the following actions:
- (a) if the later sentence would not have been imposed but for the previous record, the court must set aside the later sentence and replace it with a sentence that the court would have imposed had the offender not been subject to the previous record:
 - (b) if any order relating to the later sentence would not have been made but for the previous record, the court must cancel the order and, where appropriate, replace it with an order that the court would have made had the offender not been subject to the previous record:
 - (c) if the court considers it just to make any consequential orders, the court must make those orders.
- (4) Without limiting the generality of subsection (3), if an offender who continues to be subject to a later sentence for 1 or more stage-2 offences ceases, in accordance with section 86F(2), to have a record of first warning, the appropriate court must—
- (a) cancel any order imposed on the offender in respect of those stage-2 offences under section 86C(4); and
 - (b) if the court considers it appropriate to do so, impose a minimum period of imprisonment under section 86 in respect of those stage-2 offences, taking into account any indication given by the sentencing court under section 86C(6); and

- (c) in the case of a stage-2 offence that is murder, cancel any sentence or order imposed on the offender under section 86E(2) and re-sentence the offender under subpart 4 of this Part.
- (5) Without limiting the generality of subsection (3), if an offender who continues to be subject to a later sentence for stage-3 offences ceases, in accordance with section 86F(2), to have either a record of first warning or a record of final warning, the appropriate court must,—
 - (a) if the offender has been sentenced under section 86D, re-sentence the offender for the offence concerned by applying section 86C; and
 - (b) in the case of a stage-3 offence that is murder, cancel any order made under section 86E(4)(a) and replace it with an order under section 86E(4)(b).
- (6) Without limiting the generality of subsection (3), if an offender who continues to be subject to a later sentence for stage-3 convictions ceases, in accordance with section 86F(2), to have both a record of first warning and a record of final warning, the court must,—
 - (a) if the offender has been sentenced under section 86D, re-sentence the offender for the offence concerned;
 - (b) in the case of a stage-3 offence that is murder, cancel any sentence or order imposed on the offender under section 86E(2) and any order under section 86E(4) and re-sentence the offender under subpart 4 of this Part;
 - (c) administer a first warning to the offender by taking the action described in section 86B(1).

86H Appeal against orders relating to imprisonment

Section 86H: amended, on 1 July 2013, by section 7 of the Sentencing Amendment Act (No 2) 2011 (2011 No 93).

 - (a) the court may, if it thinks fit, set the disposition aside; and
 - (b) section 128, 129, or 129A, as the case may be, applies as if the disposition by the offender or by the substitute for the offender had not occurred.

- (2) [Repealed]
- (3) Subject to subsection (4), the proceeds of the sale must be applied in the following manner and order of priority:
 - (a) if the motor vehicle has been impounded under the Land Transport Act 1998, in paying any impoundment costs:
 - (b) in payment of the costs of the sale (including all costs incurred in seizing the motor vehicle, towing and storing the vehicle, and complying with the provisions of this subpart preliminary to sale):
 - (c) if 1 or more security agreements have been brought to the notice of the Registrar before the proceeds of sale are fully applied, and have been established to the Registrar's satisfaction, in payment to each secured party of the amount to which the secured party would, but for the extinguishment of the security interest concerned, have been entitled under that agreement:
 - (d) in payment of any sentence or order of reparation payable by the offender:
 - (e) in payment of any levy payable by the offender under section 105B of this Act:

- (g) to the offender or, as the case requires, the substitute for the offender.

- (4) If the proceeds arise out of the sale of a motor vehicle owned by a substitute for the offender or in which the substitute had an interest, the proceeds must be applied in the manner and order of priority specified in subsection (3), except that the payment described in paragraphs (d) to (f) of that subsection are limited to sums imposed in respect of offences committed by the offender in a motor vehicle that, at the material time, was owned by the substitute or in which the substitute had an interest.
- (5) A motor vehicle may be sold under this section even though it fails to comply in any respect with section 242 of the Land Transport Act 1998, and the purchaser of that motor vehicle—
- (a) is, despite that Act or any other enactment, entitled to tow the motor vehicle to any appropriate place; and
 - (b) in so towing the vehicle, is under no criminal or civil liability merely because of the failure of the vehicle to comply with that section; and
 - (c) must comply in all respects with that Act as soon as the motor vehicle has been towed to that place.
- (6) If the Registrar considers that a motor vehicle is not roadworthy and that it would be uneconomic to render it roadworthy, the Registrar must, before the motor vehicle is sold under this section, apply, under the Land Transport Act 1998, to have the registration of the motor vehicle cancelled as if the Registrar were the person who, under that Act, is entitled to apply for that cancellation.
