1 Title

This Act is the Coroners Act 2006.

2 Commencement

- (2) The rest of this Act comes into force on 1 July 2007.

Part 1
General provisions

3 Purpose of this Act

- (1) The purpose of this Act is to help to prevent deaths and to promote justice through—
 - (a) investigations, and the identification of the causes and circumstances, of sudden or unexplained deaths, or deaths in special circumstances; and
 - (b) the making of recommendations or comments that, if drawn to public attention, may reduce the chances of further deaths occurring in circumstances similar to those in which the deaths occurred.
- (2) To help to achieve its purpose, this Act—
 - (a) identifies deaths that must be reported to a coroner and the process for reporting and investigating those deaths:
 - (b) recognises both—
 - (i) the cultural and spiritual needs of family of, and of others who were in a close relationship to, a person who has died; and
 - (ii) the public good associated with a proper and timely understanding of the causes and circumstances of deaths:
 - (c) provides for an independent coronial system for investigations of deaths by coroners liaising with other authorities permitted or required by law to investigate those deaths:
 - (d) repeals and replaces the Coroners Act 1988.

Section 3(1)(b): replaced, on 21 July 2016, by section 4 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

4 Coroner's role

- (1) A coroner's role in relation to a death is—
- (a) to receive a report of the death from the New Zealand Police; and
 - (b) to decide whether to direct a post-mortem and, if one is directed, to determine whether to authorise certain people (other than the pathologist) to attend; and
 - (c) to authorise the release of the body (including determining, if a post-mortem has been directed, whether the pathologist wishes and is permitted, on the release of the body, to retain body parts or bodily samples); and
 - (d) to decide whether to open an inquiry (and, if one is to be conducted, whether an inquest should be held); and
 - (e) if an inquiry is to be opened and conducted,—
 - (i) to open and conduct it for the 3 purposes stated in subsection (2) (and in section 57), and not to determine civil, criminal, or disciplinary liability; and
 - (ii) to determine related matters such as whether to prohibit the making public of evidence and whether to authorise the making public of certain particulars of deaths suspected or found to be self-inflicted deaths; and
 - (iii) on completing it, to complete and sign a certificate of findings in relation to the death; and
 - (f) to give members and representatives of the immediate family of the person who is, or of a person who is suspected to be, the dead person concerned, and certain others, notice of significant matters in the carrying out of the duties and processes required by law to be performed or followed in relation to the death.
- (2) The 3 purposes referred to in subsection (1)(e)(i) are—
- (a) to establish, so far as possible,—
 - (i) that a person has died; and
 - (ii) the person's identity; and
 - (iii) when and where the person died; and
 - (iv) the causes of the death; and
 - (v) the circumstances of the death; and
 - (b) to make recommendations or comments under section 57A that, in the coroner's opinion, may, if drawn to public attention, reduce the chances of the occurrence of other deaths in circumstances similar to those in which the death occurred; and

- (c) to determine whether the public interest would be served by the death being investigated by other investigating authorities in the performance or exercise of their functions, powers, or duties, and to refer the death to them if satisfied that the public interest would be served by their investigating it in the performance or exercise of their functions, powers, or duties.

- (3) This section is only a general guide to a coroner's role.

Section 4(2)(b): amended, on 21 July 2016, by section 5 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

Every coroner must, so far as it is consistent with justice and practicable to do so, perform or exercise his or her functions, powers, and duties without delay.

6 Coroners must have regard to relevant practice notes

7 Chief coroner's functions

- (e) to set up and maintain a register, which must be publicly available, of coroners' recommendations and comments (or summaries of those recommendations and comments) made after the commencement of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016:
- (f) to carry out any other function or task conferred or imposed by this Act or any other enactment.

Post-mortems

31 Coroner may direct post-mortem

- (1) A coroner may direct a pathologist to perform a post-mortem of a body—
 - (a) for the purpose of enabling the coroner to decide whether to open an inquiry into the death concerned; or

- (b) if the coroner is to open, or has opened and not completed, an inquiry into the death concerned.
- (1A) Where more than 1 death appears to have occurred as a result of a single event or a series of related events, a coroner—
- (a) may direct 1 or more pathologists to perform post-mortems of any or all of the bodies (whether found before or after the direction is made) of people whose deaths appear to be a result of that event or series of events; and
 - (b) may direct 1 or more dentists to attend any or all of those post-mortems.
- (2) If a coroner proposes to direct a post-mortem under this section, section 33 (right in some cases to object to post-mortem) may apply to that post-mortem and section 34(1)(d) (procedure for objections under section 33) may prohibit the coroner from directing that the post-mortem be performed.
- (3) [Repealed]
- (4) The pathologist must not be a doctor who, to the coroner's knowledge, was a doctor who attended the person concerned immediately before death.
- (5) If, in accordance with section 37, the coroner so directs, the pathologist must perform the post-mortem immediately.
- (6) As soon as practicable after completing the post-mortem, the pathologist must give the coroner a written report on the results of the post-mortem.

Section 31(1A): inserted, on 21 July 2016, by section 22(1) of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

Section 31(3): repealed, on 21 July 2016, by section 22(2) of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

32 Criteria for decision whether to direct post-mortem

In deciding whether to direct a post-mortem under section 31, a coroner must have regard to the following matters:

- (a) the extent to which the matters required by this Act to be established by an inquiry—
 - (i) are not already disclosed in respect of the death concerned by information available directly to the coroner or from information arising from investigations or examinations the coroner has made or caused to be made; but
 - (ii) are likely to be disclosed by a post-mortem; and
- (b) whether the Director-General of Health has ordered or is likely to order a post-mortem of the body concerned under section 78 of the Health Act 1956; and
- (c) whether the death appears to have been unnatural or violent; and

- (d) if the death appears to have been unnatural or violent, whether it appears to have been due to the actions or inaction of other people; and
- (e) the existence and extent of any allegations, rumours, suspicions, or public concern about the cause of the death; and
- (f) the desirability of minimising the causing of distress to people who, by reason of their ethnic origins, social attitudes or customs, or spiritual beliefs, customarily require bodies to be available to family members as soon as possible after death; and
- (g) the desirability of minimising the causing of offence to people who, by reason of their ethnic origins, social attitudes or customs, or spiritual beliefs, find post-mortems of bodies offensive; and
- (h) the desire of any member of the immediate family of the person concerned that a post-mortem should be performed; and
- (i) any other matters the coroner thinks relevant.

Compare: 1988 No 111 s 8

33 Right in some cases to object to post-mortem

- (1) This section applies to a post-mortem of a body that a coroner proposes to direct under section 31 be performed unless the coroner proposes to direct that the post-mortem be performed immediately (in accordance with section 37) because (together with any other good reason) any delay would or may limit the pathologist's ability to determine the cause of death.
- (2) Every member of the immediate family of the person who is, or of a person who is suspected to be, the dead person concerned has, in the situation specified in subsection (3), a right to object to the post-mortem.
- (3) The situation referred to in subsection (2) is that the coroner is, after having made all reasonable investigations, satisfied that, in the particular circumstances,—
 - (a) the death concerned does not appear to have been, and is unlikely to appear later to have been, a result of conduct that constitutes a criminal offence; and
 - (b) New Zealand's international legal obligations, and the laws of New Zealand, do not appear to require the post-mortem to be performed.

34 Procedure for objections under section 33

- (1) If a coroner determines that members of the immediate family have, under section 33, a right to object to the post-mortem,—
 - (a) notice of that right must be given in accordance with section 23; and
 - (b) any exercise of that right must be as soon as practicable and within 24 hours of the coroner's determination; and

- (c) that right is exercised by advising the coroner of the fact of and reasons for the objection to the post-mortem; and
 - (d) the coroner cannot, if that right is exercised within that 24-hour period, direct under section 31 that the post-mortem be performed unless permitted to do so by subsection (3) of this section or by order of the High Court under section 35(6).
- (2) If, 24 hours after the coroner determines that members of the immediate family have, under section 33, a right to object to the post-mortem, the coroner has received objections under section 33, he or she must as soon as practicable—
- (a) decide whether he or she still wishes to direct under section 31 that the post-mortem be performed; and
 - (b) advise the objectors accordingly.
- (3) The coroner may direct under section 31 that the post-mortem be performed if, 48 hours after the objectors were advised under subsection (2)(b) that the coroner still wishes to direct that the post-mortem be performed, none of them has lodged an objection under this subsection in the High Court.
- (4) In calculating the 48-hour period in subsection (3), hours count only if they are hours of working days.
- (5) An objection under subsection (3) is lodged by originating application in the manner provided by the High Court Rules 2016.

Section 34(5): amended, on 1 March 2017, by section 183(b) of the Senior Courts Act 2016 (2016 No 48).

Section 34(5): amended, on 18 October 2016, by section 183(c) of the Senior Courts Act 2016 (2016 No 48).

35 Procedure for objection in High Court

- (1) Judges of the High Court and employees of the Ministry of Justice must ensure an objection lodged in the High Court under section 34(3) (the objection) is disposed of as a matter of priority and urgency.
- (2) The Registrar must allocate a date for the hearing of the objection that is no later than 1 working day after the date on which the objection is lodged.
- (3) If the objection is lodged at a Registry of the High Court in a place where no High Court Judge is at that time available, the Registrar must ensure that the objection is dealt with in some other place within the time limit referred to in subsection (2); and any other Registrar or employee of the Ministry of Justice whose help is sought by the Registrar in whose Registry the application is filed has a corresponding obligation.
- (4) If subsection (3) applies, the Registrar must—
- (a) make any urgent enquiries necessary to determine where and by whom the objection can most conveniently and expeditiously be dealt with; and

- (b) forward the objection and any other relevant documents without delay to the Registrar at the place where the application is to be dealt with; and
 - (c) without delay, inform every party to the proceeding of the action taken under this section.
- (5) Subsections (3) and (4) apply in substitution for any provision of the High Court Rules 2016 relating to the transfer of notices of application filed at a time when a Judge is not present.
- (6) The High Court must either uphold the objection, or dismiss it by ordering that the coroner may direct under section 31 that the post-mortem be performed.

Section 35(5): amended, on 18 October 2016, by section 183(c) of the Senior Courts Act 2016 (2016 No 48).

36 Nature of post-mortem

- (1) A pathologist who is directed under section 31 to carry out a post-mortem must carry out a full internal and external examination of the body unless the coroner, in the relevant direction under section 31, requires only a lesser examination (in which case the pathologist must comply with the direction).
- (1A) The pathologist may otherwise carry out the post-mortem as he or she thinks fit.
- (2) Before requiring only a lesser examination in the relevant direction under section 31, the coroner must—
- (a) consult the New Zealand Police about any evidential matters that may make a full internal and external examination of the body necessary or desirable; and
 - (b) consult the pathologist whom the coroner proposes to direct to perform in the examination about whether the lesser examination proposed would or may limit that pathologist's ability to determine the cause of death.

Section 36(1A): inserted, on 21 July 2016, by section 23 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

37 Post-mortem may be performed early in some cases

- (1) If satisfied that there is good reason to do so, a coroner may, under section 31, direct a pathologist to perform a post-mortem immediately.
- (2) Good reason may exist for the purposes of subsection (1)—
- (a) because any delay would or may limit the pathologist's ability to determine the cause of death; or
 - (b) because the person concerned is an infant; or
 - (c) because people having the ethnic origins, social attitudes or customs, or spiritual beliefs of, or of a member of the immediate family of, the person concerned, customarily require bodies to be available to family members as soon as possible after death.

- (3) Subsection (2) does not limit subsection (1).

 - (g) a Police employee:
 - (h) any other person, if authorised to attend by a coroner.
- (2) No doctor, nurse, or funeral director is responsible for the conduct of, or may participate in otherwise than by observing, a post-mortem just because he or she attends the post-mortem as a representative in accordance with subsection (1)(d) or (e).

- (b) the reasons for, and likely duration of, the proposed retention.

50 Coroner must notify immediate family of retention, and of right to request return, of parts and samples

- (1) This section applies if, under section 48(2)(a) or (b), a pathologist intends to retain, or has retained, a body part or bodily sample from a dead person's body.
- (2) A responsible coroner must, before the release of the body, give notice of the intention to retain a part or sample if, due to the nature of the part or sample, the coroner considers that it is appropriate to give notice before the body is released.

- (3) Unless the coroner has given notice under subsection (2), the coroner must, on or immediately after the release of the body, give notice that a part or sample has been retained.
- (4) A notice under this section must be given to every representative of the immediate family recognised under section 22 and must—
 - (a) identify in general terms the part or sample that the pathologist intends to retain, or has retained; and

 - (c) explain the authority and reasons for the intention to retain, or for the retention of, the part or sample; and
 - (d) indicate how long the pathologist expects the part or sample will need to be retained for those reasons; and
 - (e) indicate (if known by the coroner) whether, and, if so, to what extent, the part or sample is likely to be destroyed in the course of being used for the purpose for which it is retained; and
 - (f) advise that members of the immediate family have the right to request the return of the part or sample (to the extent that the part or sample has not been destroyed); and
 - (g) indicate the date by which the return of any part or sample that has not been destroyed must be requested.
- (5) In considering whether to request the return of a part or sample, members of the dead person's immediate family may, with the coroner's approval, contact the pathologist for further information about the part or sample (including information about how the part or sample has been dealt with and how it may be dealt with if it is not returned).
- (6) A failure to comply with this section does not affect the validity of any action taken by or on behalf of the coroner.

Section 50: replaced, on 21 July 2016, by section 32 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

51 Pathologists proposing to retain parts or samples under section 48(2)(c) must advise of right to request return

In ascertaining whether the family members or other people to whom the body is to be released object to a proposal under section 48(2)(c) to retain a part or sample for a specified purpose, the pathologist must advise them that, if they do not object to the proposal, they—

- (a) have the right to request, under this section, the return (to the extent permitted by this Act) of the part or sample once it is no longer needed, and to the extent that it has not been destroyed in the course of use, for that purpose; and

- (b) may exercise that right at any time within 5 working days after having been advised of it.

52 Requests for return of retained parts and samples

- (1) This section applies to a request, under section 50 or 51, for the return of a body part or bodily sample.
- (2) If the request is not expressly confined to 1 or more specified parts or samples, it must be treated as seeking the return of all parts and samples retained in relation to the body concerned.
- (3) The request need not describe specifically or technically the part or sample, but must be in writing and may, but need not, be in a form approved for the purpose by the chief coroner.

53 Parts and samples whose retention is not permitted must generally be returned when body released

- (1) A pathologist who is not permitted by section 48 to retain a body part or bodily sample must, to the extent that it has not been destroyed in the course of analysis conducted for the purposes of the post-mortem,—
 - (a) restore it, before the body is released, to the appropriate place in the body, if restoration of that kind is reasonably practicable; or
 - (b) ensure it is, before the body is released, in some other way reunited appropriately with the body, if reunion of that kind is reasonably practicable but restoration of that kind is not; or
 - (c) dispose of it as soon as is reasonably convenient after the release of the body, if neither restoration nor reunion of that kind is reasonably practicable.
- (2) This section is subject to section 54.

54 Restrictions on return and disposal

- (1) A part or sample referred to in section 53 or 55 may be retained, or may be returned subject to specified conditions (for example, conditions relating to the storage of the part or sample in a sealed container) if, in the pathologist's opinion, returning it, or returning it otherwise than subject to the specified conditions, would endanger the health or safety of the public or a member of the public.
- (2) No part or sample referred to in section 53, 55, or 56 may be returned or disposed of under that section unless—
 - (a) the coroner has first confirmed in writing that the return or disposal (as the case requires) of the part or sample appears unlikely to prejudice the prevention, detection, investigation, prosecution, and punishment of criminal offences relating to the death concerned or its circumstances; and

- (b) the return or disposal is otherwise lawful.

55 Return on request of retained parts and samples

- (1) This section applies to a part or sample whose return is sought by a request under section 50 or 51.
- (2) The part or sample must, to the extent that it has not been destroyed in the course of analysis conducted for the purpose for which it was retained, be returned to the makers of the request when—
- (a) the coroner, having conducted and completed an inquiry into the death, completes and signs a certificate of findings in accordance with section 94; or
- (b) the coroner notifies the Secretary, under section 64, of the coroner's decision not to open an inquiry.
- (3) However, the part or sample need not be returned, and may be used and disposed of under section 56, if the makers of the request cannot, after all reasonable efforts for the purpose have been made, be located.
- (4) Subsection (3) overrides subsection (2).
- (5) This section is subject to section 54.

Section 55(2): replaced, on 21 July 2016, by section 34 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

56 Use and disposal of retained parts or samples whose return is not requested

- (1) This section applies to a part or sample retained under section 48(2) if—
- (a) no request for its return was made under section 50 or 51; or
- (b) a request of that kind was made but the part or sample may, under section 55(3), be used and disposed of under this section because the makers of the request cannot, after all reasonable efforts for the purpose have been made, be located.
- (2) The part or sample may, to the extent that it has not been destroyed in the course of analysis conducted for the purpose for which it was taken, and without further authority than this section, be retained and used by the pathologist for any or all of the following purposes:
- (a) analysis for the purposes of the post-mortem of the part or sample using techniques unavailable when it was performed;
- (b) any use that is necessary or desirable for auditing or evaluation of, or training for, coronial post-mortems.
- (3) Subsection (2) does not prevent other retention and use authorised by law.

- (4) The part or sample must be disposed of by the pathologist as soon as is reasonably convenient if the part or sample—
 - (a) is not to be retained and used as provided in subsection (2); or
 - (b) has been retained and used in that way, but is no longer required for a purpose in subsection (2).
- (5) This section is subject to section 54.

Part 3

Inquiries into causes and circumstances of deaths

Inquiries

57 Purposes of inquiries

- (1) A coroner opens and conducts an inquiry (including any related inquest) for the 3 purposes stated in this section, and not to determine civil, criminal, or disciplinary liability.
- (2) The first purpose is to establish, so far as possible,—
 - (a) that a person has died; and
 - (b) the person's identity; and
 - (c) when and where the person died; and
 - (d) the causes of the death; and
 - (e) the circumstances of the death.
- (3) The second purpose is to make recommendations or comments (see section 57A).
- (4) The third purpose is to determine whether the public interest would be served by the death being investigated by other investigating authorities in the performance or exercise of their functions, powers, or duties, and to refer the death to them if satisfied that the public interest would be served by their investigating it in the performance or exercise of their functions, powers, or duties.

- (2) Recommendations or comments may be made only for the purpose of reducing the chances of further deaths occurring in circumstances similar to those in which the death occurred.
- (3) Recommendations or comments must—

- (a) be clearly linked to the factors that contributed to the death to which the inquiry relates; and
- (b) be based on evidence considered during the inquiry; and
- (c) be accompanied by an explanation of how the recommendation or comment may, if drawn to public attention, reduce the chances of further deaths occurring in similar circumstances.

Section 57A: inserted, on 21 July 2016, by section 36 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

 - (i) any experts from whom the coroner has received evidence under section 76; and
 - (ii) any other expert who the coroner considers has an interest in the inquiry; and
 - (iii) any persons or organisations to whom the recommendation or comment is directed; and
 - (b) give those persons or organisations 20 working days to comment on the proposed recommendation or comment.
- (2) The chief coroner must record any comments (or summaries of those comments) made by persons or organisations notified under subsection (1) in the register of recommendations and comments maintained under section 7(2)(e).
- (3) To avoid doubt, the chief coroner may make the comments made by a person or organisation publicly available, via the register or otherwise, without the approval of that person or organisation.

Section 57B: inserted, on 21 July 2016, by section 36 of the Coroners Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 29).

58 Adverse comments by coroners

- (1) A coroner may, in the course of, or as part of the findings of, an inquiry, comment on the conduct, in relation to the circumstances of the death concerned, of any person.
- (2) The coroner must not comment adversely on a dead person without—
 - (a) indicating an intention to do so; and
 - (b) adjourning the inquiry for at least 5 working days; and

- (c) notifying every member of the person's immediate family who during the adjournment requests the coroner to do so of the proposed comment; and
 - (d) giving every such member a reasonable opportunity to be heard, either personally or by counsel, in relation to the proposed comment.
- (3) The coroner must not comment adversely on a living person, corporation sole, body corporate, or unincorporated body without—
- (a) taking all reasonable steps to notify the person, corporation, or body of the proposed comment; and
 - (b) giving the person, corporation, or body a reasonable opportunity to be heard, either personally or by counsel, in relation to the proposed comment.
- (4) Notifications, or opportunities to be heard, required to be given to a body corporate or unincorporated body must be given to an officer or other representative of the body who is, or appears to be, authorised by the body for the purpose.
- (5) This section overrides sections 57 to 57B, but is subject to section 68 (procedure if person charged with offence).

- (a) the body of the person concerned is in New Zealand; or
 - (b) the coroner is satisfied that it is likely that the person concerned is dead and that—
 - (i) the person's body is destroyed, irrecoverable, or lost; and
 - (ii) the person was in New Zealand immediately before the person's death; or
 - (c) the body of the person concerned is not in New Zealand, or is destroyed, irrecoverable, or lost, and—

 - (b) an inquiry under this Act is likely to identify the cause and circumstances of the death.
- (2) A coroner must not open an inquiry into a death if the coroner is satisfied that the death—
- (a) occurred while the dead person was a member of the Defence Force on operational service; and
 - (b) arose from hostilities in which the Defence Force or an allied force was engaged.
- (3) A coroner must adjourn an inquiry if, during the course of the inquiry, the coroner determines that the death to which the inquiry relates is likely to have occurred in the circumstances described in subsection (2).
- (4) Subsections (2) and (3) apply unless the Attorney-General directs the coroner to carry out an investigation, or to resume an inquiry, into the cause and circumstances of the death.
- (5) Before the Attorney-General directs a coroner to carry out an investigation, or to resume an inquiry, the Attorney-General must, without limitation, consider—

 - (b) whether the investigation or inquiry could reveal information that may prejudice the security or defence of New Zealand; and
 - (c) whether the investigation or inquiry is likely to examine military tactics; and

- (d) whether a court of inquiry has been, or will be, assembled under section 200A of the Armed Forces Discipline Act 1971 for the purposes of collecting and recording evidence about the relevant death.
- (6) If the Attorney-General directs a coroner to carry out an investigation, or to resume an inquiry, the coroner may open or resume an inquiry, but its only purpose is to establish, so far as possible, the particulars specified in section 4(2)(a).
- (7) In this section,— allied force and Defence Force have the meanings given in section 2(1) of the Defence Act 1990 operational service means service as a member of the Defence Force—

- other thing, specified in the notice, but has not issued and served the notice because paragraph (b) applies; and
- (b) there are reasonable grounds to believe that a notice of that kind would not be complied with, and that the purpose of a warrant of that kind would be defeated if the warrant were granted after a notice of that kind was issued and served under subsection (1); and
