Subpart 2—Reprints

23 Interpretation

In this subpart, unless the context otherwise requires,— current drafting practice means the legislative drafting practice for the time being used by the PCO legislation includes an instrument published under section 14 or published under a corresponding provision in a previous enactment referential words means words (for example, “of this Act”, “of this section”, “of this paragraph”, “the said”, and “hereof”) that identify the whole or part of a provision (including a schedule) as a provision, or as part of a provision, of the enactment in which they appear.

Compare: 1989 No 142 s 17A

24 Power to make changes in reprints

- (1) Changes authorised by sections 25 and 26 may be made in a reprint.
- (2) Sections 25 and 26 do not permit any change to the text of a provision of any legislation that, if enacted, would change the effect of the provision.
- (3) Nothing in this section limits the authority to make changes in a reprint in reliance on the application of section 22 of the Interpretation Act 1999 or any other enactment.

Compare: 1989 No 142 s 17C; Reprints Act 1992 s 8 (Qld)

25 Editorial changes

- (1) The Chief Parliamentary Counsel may make the following changes in a reprint:
 - (a) language that indicates or could be taken to indicate a particular gender may be changed to gender-neutral language so that it is consistent with current drafting practice, as long as it is also consistent with the purpose of the legislation being reprinted:

Examples

The word “he” may be changed to “he or she”, or replaced with the relevant noun.

The word “chairman” may be changed to “chairperson”.

The words “Her Majesty the Queen” may be changed to “the Sovereign”.

- (b) the numbering, renumbering, and consequential amendments authorised by an Order in Council made under subsection (2):

- (c) a reference to the name or title of a body, an office, a person, a place, or a thing that has been changed may be replaced with a reference to the name or title as changed:
- (d) a reference to a body, office, person, place, or thing that has been replaced by another body, office, person, place, or thing may be changed to a reference to the replacement body, office, person, place, or thing:
- (e) changes may be made to the way provisions are referred to, so as to be consistent with current drafting practice:

Example

“Schedule 1 to the Ombudsmen Act 1975” may be changed to “Schedule 1 of the Ombudsmen Act 1975”.

- (f) unnecessary referential words may be omitted:
- (g) changes may be made to words in the Māori language (te reo Māori) to reflect current orthographic conventions:
- (h) punctuation may be changed or omitted, or new punctuation inserted, so as to be consistent with current drafting practice:
- (i) conjunctives and disjunctives may be inserted, omitted, or changed so as to be consistent with current drafting practice:
- (j) obvious errors of the following kinds may be corrected:
 - (i) typographical and clerical errors:
 - (ii) grammatical and spelling errors, and errors of punctuation:
 - (iii) errors in numbering, cross-referencing, and alphabetical ordering:
 - (iv) errors in or arising out of an amendment, by another enactment, to the legislation reprinted:
 - (v) any other errors of a similar nature:

Examples

In the following provision, the word in bold can be omitted: “The board of a company may make offers on on one or more stock exchanges”.

An Act consequentially repeals section 85(3) of another Act. The other Act does not contain a section 85, and it is obvious from the context that the intention was to repeal section 75(3). The error can be corrected.

An Act contains amendments to section 6 of another Act. Before the first Act comes into force, the other Act is amended so that section 6 is replaced by section 6A in substantially similar terms. Section 6A can be amended to reflect the intent of the amendments to section 6.

- (k) changes may be made to the way numbers, dates, times, quantities, measurements, and similar matters, ideas, or concepts are referred to or expressed so as to be consistent with current drafting practice:

Example

A reference in a form to “this [blank] day of [blank] 19...” may be changed to “[Date]”.

47A Overview

- (1) This subpart ensures some instruments are revoked by this Act at a deadline unless earlier confirmed by an Act of Parliament.
- (2) The instruments are made under the section or sections listed in Schedule 2 (see section 47B).
- (3) The deadline differs depending on whether the instrument is made in the first or second half of a year (see section 47C).
- (4) If the instrument is one of a subset of confirmable instruments called annual confirmable instruments, and has been revoked before the deadline, then it is invalid for its past operation unless confirmed by an Act (see sections 47B and 47D).

- (5) Revocation by this Act of the instrument generally does not affect the validity of acts done under it before it is revoked (see section 47F).
- (6) Amendments, revocations, or repeals effected by the instrument are undone with effect from when the instrument is revoked by this Act (see section 47G).
- (7) Any duties, levies, or road user charges collected under the instrument must, with some exceptions, be refunded if the instrument is later revoked by this Act (see sections 47H and 47I).
- (8) This section is only a general guide to this subpart, which replaces and standardises former inconsistent confirmation provisions in the Acts listed in Schedule 2.
