 - (a) beginning with the commencement of this section; and
 - (b) ending on the date specified with the designation of an entity as the NAIT organisation under section 8.

- (3) If, before notice is given under subsection (1), a PICA has failed to comply with the time limits prescribed by regulations made under this Act, the NAIT organisation may extend the time for the PICA to comply with those time limits.

- (4) However, subsection (3) applies only if the NAIT organisation is satisfied that the PICA's non-compliance was caused by, or is justifiable in, the circumstances leading to notice being given under subsection (1).

 - (a) the need to protect NAIT animals from pests and unwanted organisms; and
 - (b) the desirability of facilitating market access for NAIT animals; and

Cost recovery

57 Costs must be recovered

- (1) The Minister must carry out the duties in subsections (3) and (4) in the following years for the following periods:
 - (a) in the first full financial year after the commencement date of this section, for the next period of 3 financial years;
 - (b) in the final financial year of each subsequent set of 3 financial years, for the next period of 3 financial years.
- (2) The Minister must carry out the duties in subsections (3) and (4) in conjunction with the NAIT organisation.
- (3) The Minister must estimate the amount of costs to which the following apply:
 - (a) they will arise in the forthcoming period; and
 - (b) they are the expected direct and indirect costs of administering this Act; and
 - (c) they are not recoverable under another provision of this Act; and
 - (d) they will not be appropriated by Parliament for the purpose.
- (4) The Minister must then recommend the making of regulations under section 61 or 62 to recover one-third of the amount in each of the financial years in the period.
- (5) The reference in subsection (4) to recovering one-third of the amount is modified in that—
 - (a) a shortfall in cost recovery in a period may be recovered in the subsequent period; and
 - (b) an over-recovery of costs in a period may be counted towards the recovery of costs in a subsequent period.
- (6) The Minister must ensure that the regulations are made before the start of the period to which they apply.
- (7) The Minister may recommend the amendment of the regulations in the period to which they apply if the Minister is satisfied that—

- (b) the persons likely to be substantially affected by the amendment, or their representatives, have been consulted.
- (8) An amendment under subsection (7) applies to the remaining full financial years in the period to which the regulations apply.
- (9) The Minister may also recommend the amendment of the regulations in the period to which they apply if the Minister is satisfied that—
 - (a) the addition to or removal from Schedule 1 of a species or sub-group of species requires a reallocation of costs among NAIT participants; and
 - (b) the persons likely to be substantially affected by the amendment, or their representatives, have been consulted.
- (10) An amendment under subsection (9) applies from the date on which the species is added or removed.

58 Principles

In making decisions under section 57, the Minister must have regard to the following principles:

- (a) equity, in that funding for a service should generally be sourced from the users or beneficiaries of the service at a level commensurate with their use of or benefit from it and with the risks associated with the activities they carry out, but without strict apportionment according to use or benefit having to be observed;
- (b) efficiency, in that the allocation of costs should generally aim at the provision of maximum services at minimum cost;
- (c) justifiability, in that costs should generally be recovered to meet only the actual and reasonable costs of the provision of services;
- (d) transparency, in that—
 - (i) both budget projections and actual costs should generally be transparent; and
 - (ii) costs should generally be identified for, and allocated as closely as practicable to, tangible service provision in the recovery period in which the service is provided:

- (e) ease of administration, in that the costs of collection should generally be kept as low as possible:
- (f) flexibility, in that the method of recovering costs should generally be able to—
 - (i) adapt to changes in species or sub-groups of species covered by the Act; and
 - (ii) cope with variations in costs to be recovered; and
 - (iii) encourage the provision of complete and accurate data.

59 Methods

 - (f) fees or charges determined by calculations involving an averaging of costs:
 - (g) fees or charges consisting of the actual and reasonable costs of providing a service:
 - (h) fees or charges based on estimated costs and paid before the provision of the service, followed by reconciliation and an appropriate further payment or refund after the provision of the service:
 - (i) refundable or non-refundable deposits paid before the provision of the service:
 - (j) fees or charges that differ depending on whether or not a special or an urgent service is provided:
 - (k) fees or charges that include more than 1 level of fee or charge for the same service provided in different ways, or provided in or for different places:
 - (l) fees or charges that differ for otherwise similar services provided in different ways:

- (m) fees or charges that differ depending on the amount of service required or the components of the service required for the particular person or class of persons:

- responsible for collecting the levy, and the persons responsible for paying it; and
- (ii) require the retention of the accounts, statements, or records for a specified period:

- (2) The amount unpaid is liable for compound interest at 10% per annum.
- (3) The NAIT organisation may waive all or part of the amount of the interest if it is satisfied that the failure or refusal of a person to pay the original debt is a result of a genuine dispute between the person and the organisation as to the person's liability to pay the debt.

Notes1 General

This is a reprint of the National Animal Identification and Tracing Act 2012. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the Act as at 1 March 2013, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that contain transitional, savings, or application provisions that cannot be compiled in the reprint are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order. For more information, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/reprints/>.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/editorial-conventions/> or Part 8 of the Tables of New Zealand Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
 - indentation
 - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
 - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
 - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
