5 Exemption from section 37A(1)(b) of Act

The company, the subsidiary, and every person acting on behalf of either or both of them are exempted from section 37A(1)(b) of the Act in respect of the specified debt securities.

6 Conditions of exemption in clause 5

The exemption in clause 5 is subject to the conditions that—

- (a) the prospectus and investment statement under which the holder subscribed for the specified equity securities contain a description of the specified debt securities, and the terms and conditions of the specified debt securities; and
- (b) at the time of the allotment of the specified debt securities, the holder of the specified equity securities receives a document that contains a statement that there is available from the company, on request and free of charge, a copy of the most recent annual report and financial statements (if any) of the company prepared in accordance with the Financial Reporting Act 1993 or any relevant overseas financial reporting requirements; and
- (c) the terms of the offer of the specified equity securities require that if any of the specified debt securities are transferred by the subsidiary to holders of specified equity securities, specified debt securities are transferred to all holders of specified equity securities except, if the company elects, to holders who are resident outside New Zealand and who are excluded by the company to avoid breaching the laws of the holder's country of residence; and
- (d) the specified debt securities transferred to each holder are—
  - (i) transferred on the terms and conditions disclosed to the holder in the prospectus or investment statement under which the holder subscribed for the specified equity securities; and
  - (ii) subject to the same rights as the specified debt securities transferred to all other specified equity security holders.

7 Exemption from sections 33(2), 37, 37A(1)(c) and (d), 51, 52, 54, and 54B(3) of Act

The subsidiary (to the extent that it is an issuer of the specified debt securities under section 6(7) of the Act) and every person acting on its behalf are exempted from sections 33(2), 37, 37A(1)(c) and (d), 51, 52, 54, and 54B(3) of the Act in respect of the specified debt securities.

The company, the subsidiary, and every person acting on behalf of either or both of them are exempted from regulation 7A(1) of the Regulations to the extent that it requires the investment statement relating to the specified debt securities to contain information about the subsidiary as an issuer of the specified debt securities.

9 Conditions of exemptions in clauses 7 and 8

The exemptions in clauses 7 and 8 are subject to the conditions that the investment statement that relates to the specified debt securities contains—

- (a) a description of the effects of the exemptions in clauses 7 and 8; and
- (b) a statement to the effect that the subsidiary is deemed to be an issuer of the specified debt securities and has obligations as an issuer under the Act and the Regulations.

Statement of reasons

This notice comes into force on the day after the date of its notification in the Gazette and expires on 31 December 2015. It exempts:

- the Commonwealth Bank of Australia (CBA) and CBA Capital Australia (No 2) Pty Limited (CC2L) from section 37A(1)(b) of the Securities Act 1978 (the Act); and
- CC2L from sections 33(2), 37, 37A(1)(c) and (d), 51, 52, 54, and 54B(3) of the Act; and
- CBA and CC2L from regulation 7A(1) of the Securities Regulations 1983 (the Regulations).

The exemptions are in relation to subordinated notes to be transferred in exchange for redeemable preference shares offered by CBA Capital Australia Limited.

The Securities Commission considers that an exemption from section 37A(1)(b) of the Act is appropriate for the following reasons:

- investors will receive subordinated notes only on the occurrence of a specific exchange event, described in the prospectus and the investment statement for the redeemable preference shares;
- due to the mandatory nature of the exchange of redeemable preference shares to subordinated notes upon such an event, investors' decisions about subordinated notes are made at the time they subscribe for the redeemable preference shares, and are based on information provided at that time.

The Securities Commission considers that exemptions from regulation 7A(1) of the Regulations and from sections 33(2), 37, 37A(1)(c) and (d), 51, 52, 54, and 54B(3) of the Act are appropriate for the following reasons:

- where Part 2 of the Act applies to an offer of previously allotted securities to the public, both the person offering the securities and the original allotter of the securities have a responsibility for the offer as issuers:
- information relating to CC2L is unlikely to be useful to potential investors in considering whether to subscribe for subordinated notes and may be confusing:
- the credit risk and payment obligations under the subordinated notes lie only with CBA. CBA is a registered bank, and exempt from certain obligations as an issuer under section 5(2C) of the Act. As it is CBA that has the rights and obligations under the subordinated notes, it is consistent with the policy in section 5(2C) of the Act to exempt CC2L in a way equivalent to CBA's exemption from the Act. If the exemptions were not granted, the application of section 5(2C) to this offer would essentially be frustrated:
- the conditions of the exemptions require potential investors to be advised that CC2L remains legally liable as an issuer.

Notes

1 General

This is a reprint of the Securities Act (Commonwealth Bank of Australia) Exemption Notice 2005. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the notice as at 9 April 2005, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that have yet to come into force or that contain relevant transitional or savings provisions are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see

<http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/legislation/reprints.shtml>
or Part 8 of the Tables of Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations, and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
  - indentation
  - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)
- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)

- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
  - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
  - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
