5 Interpretation

(1) In this order,—

Act means the Accident Compensation Act 2001

aftershock means the Canterbury earthquake aftershock on 22 February 2011 claimant means a person who—

(a) has an incapacity resulting from a personal injury for which he or she has cover; and

- (b) suffered the personal injury on 22 February 2011 as a direct result—
 - (i) of the aftershock; or
 - (ii) of trying to rescue and recover victims of the aftershock; or
 - (iii) of the activities of other persons trying to rescue and recover victims of the aftershock; and
- (c) is incapacitated for a period longer than the first week of incapacity; and
- (d) was an earner immediately before his or her incapacity commenced

Schedule means Schedule 1 of the Act

section means a section of the Act.

- (2) A term used in this order that is defined in the Act has the meaning given to it in the Act, except that—
 - (a) the definition of “claimant” in subclause (1) is additional to the definition of “claimant” in the Act; and
 - (b) a term whose definition in the Act is inapplicable or inappropriate in this order does not have that definition in this order.

6 Corporation pays compensation for first week

Claimants the Corporation pays and does not pay

- (1) The Corporation must pay a claimant compensation for loss of earnings in the first week of incapacity, except a claimant described in subclause (2).
- (2) The Corporation must not pay compensation to the following claimants:
 - (a) a claimant who has received first week compensation for his or her injury from his or her employer;
 - (b) a claimant whose incapacity results from a work-related personal injury suffered in the claim management period of the accredited employer employing the claimant.

Self-employed and shareholder-employee parties to agreements

- (3) The amount of compensation payable to a claimant who is a party to an agreement made under section 208(2) is the amount of weekly compensation specified in the agreement.

Other employees and their employers

- (4) Subclauses (5) to (8) do not apply to a claimant to whom subclause (3) applies.
- (5) The employer in whose employment the claimant suffered the injury is exempt from the duty in section 98 to pay first week compensation to the claimant.
- (6) If the employer nevertheless pays first week compensation to the claimant, the employer may ask the Corporation to pay the amount of the compensation to the employer and the Corporation must do so.
- (7) The amount of compensation payable, either to the claimant under subclause (1) or to the employer under subclause (6), is the amount described in subclause (8) up to the maximum specified in clause 46 of Schedule 1.
- (8) The amount is 80% of the claimant's weekly earnings calculated under the following clauses of Schedule 1:
- (a) the applicable one of the following:
 - (i) for a claimant to whom clause 34 applies, clause 34(1) and (3):
 - (ii) for a claimant to whom clause 36 applies, clause 36(1), (3), and (5):
 - (iii) for a claimant to whom clause 38 applies, clause 38(1)(a) and (2) to (5):
 - (iv) for a claimant to whom any of clauses 38A, 39, and 40 applies, the applicable clause; and
 - (b) any of clauses 41 and 43 to 45 that are applicable.

7 Extension to definition of “decision”

References to a decision, or Corporation's decision, in the Act must be read as including decisions about—

- (a) whether or not the Corporation will pay compensation under clause 6; and

- (b) to whom the Corporation will pay compensation under clause 6.

8 Extension to definition of “first week compensation”

References to first week compensation in the Act, except sections 97, 98, and 99(a) and (e), and in sections 14 and 71 of the Holidays Act 2003 must be read as including compensation payable under clause 6.

Notes1 General

This is a reprint of the Canterbury Earthquake (Accident Compensation Act 2001) Order 2011. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the order as at 1 April 2012, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that contain transitional, savings, or application provisions that cannot be compiled in the reprint are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order. For more information, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/reprints/>.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/editorial-conventions/> or Part 8 of the Tables of New Zealand Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
 - indentation
 - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
 - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
 - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
